

April 2022 - For Immediate Release – Jim Morris joins Bargate Murray as Head of Aviation.

Bargate Murray, the multi award-winning Luxury Asset law firm, is delighted to announce the arrival of leading lawyer and ex RAF pilot Jim Morris, who will be heading up the Firm's Aviation group.

Prior to qualifying as a barrister, Jim was an RAF pilot for 10 years where he flew a number of aircraft, ranging from high-performance piston, turbo-prop and fast jet aircraft to heavy strategic planes. After his flying career, he was a legal officer in the RAF then, in 2008, he moved into private practice in London with a focus on aviation law and high value international aviation litigation. Jim's extensive combined experience as a professional pilot and lawyer spans over 31 years, which has enabled him to provide his clients with a class leading level of service. Jim will head up the firm's aviation group based at its offices in Mayfair.

Quentin Bargate, Founder and CEO, comments:

"We are all very much looking forward to welcoming Jim to the Bargate Murray team. He brings with him a wealth of experience and knowledge of which will perfectly compliment our already well established departments. We are looking forward to introducing Jim to our clients, contacts and friends over the coming weeks and months".

Jim Morris, Head of Aviation, comments:

"I am thrilled to be joining Bargate Murray. Their specialism in luxury assets and aviation is exceptional and I am excited to be joining their aviation practice, where I can play a major role in continuing and enhancing their aviation law services".
